Introduction

On April 5, 2020, another set of service changes will be going into effect—but don't panic. These changes are mostly minor and will actually help to make some of our service a little easier to use.

Each change we make is done with scalpel-like precision and always with the goal of building the foundation for a better bus system: something that helps you, your neighbor, and the rest of Nashville.

Creating a better bus system doesn't just mean fancy technology and prettier facilities (though it helps) but how the system operates as a whole. We look at how we can help you make easier connections, get you where you need to go more quickly, and make traveling during any time of day a breeze.

Eventually, we hope to build a network that runs 21 hours a day and has buses running every 10 minutes, but that will take time and more money to create. In the meantime, we're making small changes that set us up for success when we get there.

These service changes are just another step in that direction. If you want to learn more about our plans after you review this guide, visit our website at bit.ly/WeGoBetterBus and check out the details.

This guide will help walk you through all of the changes coming your way, but before you get into it, here are the highlights:

- We're providing better connections between routes. Route 73 Bell Road has an easier connection with 52A Nolensville Pike.
- We're giving some frequent routes a fresh face. Routes 3 West End/White Bridge and 5 West End/Bellevue will now become 51 West End; Route 22 Bordeaux is now 54 Bordeaux.
- We're picking up the pace. Service in West End and Hillsboro will get a little faster with streamlined bus stops.

For more information about the upcoming changes, check out the Table of Contents on the left.
